

FLEET ARRIVES AT MELBOURNE

American Armada Given Great Ovation by Australian Populace.

SHIPS EXCHANGE SALUTES THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE THROG SHORELINE FOR MILES.

Melbourne, Aug. 28.—The American Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Sperry, anchored in Port Phillip bay this afternoon after an uneventful voyage from Sydney.

After passing Port Phillip heads at 11:30 o'clock this morning the ships received an ovation from the shore and a vast escort accompanied the fleet the entire thirty miles to the anchorage grounds.

The weather was beautiful, a warm sun-shine having taken the place of the lowering clouds which early in the morning seemed to indicate a weary day for the welcome of the fleet, for which Melbourne was greeted by the Queens Cliff fishing boats gaily beflagged and their cruiser.

Payche also boomed a welcome of thirteen guns and dipped its flag to the Connecticut, which was the van. Simultaneously there belched forth from the American flagship an answering salute and her flag at the fore was dipped to the British union jack. The small populace of Queens Cliff, augmented by thousands of visitors, all of whom crowded the shore to witness the passage of the American armada.

Constant Exchange of Salutes.

Craft of every kind dotted the bay and there was a constant exchange of salutes between them and the American ships. Sirens screamed a welcome and cannon boomed from the decks of the Australian pleasure craft, while the flags of the visiting ships were constantly being dipped in answer. The procession up the bay was a stately and gorgeous one, the gleaming white hulls of the American vessels against the background of green wooded shores making a beautiful spectacle. The fleet was sixteen miles long, a given point, as it steamed in accurate alignment toward the city. The guns of the shore batteries and the ships resounded over the placid waters of the bay and were re-echoed by the surrounding hills.

Shortly after the Connecticut anchored Rear Admiral Sperry and his staff came ashore and paid an official visit to Hon. Sir Reginald A. J. Talbot, governor of Victoria, who soon afterward returned the visit aboard the Connecticut.

Melbourne today is a city of waving flags and bunting. Aside from the profusion of regular decorations, the cabs and tradesmen's carts are flying Australian and American flags and men, women and children are carrying the American colors, which are being sold on every street corner.

The populace is enthusiastic to a degree over the arrival of the ships.

Escorted Into Bay.

Steamers conveying federal and state ministers, many officials and numerous persons of note, met and escorted the fleet up the bay. All the craft were gaily decorated.

The battleships entered the south channel at 12:30 o'clock and passed Port Phillip, a fair breeze blowing, which was crowded with sightseers. A number of persons in automobiles ashore raced with the fleet to Melbourne.

After leaving Port Phillip the fleet crossed the broadest portion of the bay toward the anchorage, off which the shore line for miles was black with crowds and the waters alive with launches and boats of all description. Reaching their anchorage the battleships anchored successfully with clocklike precision, evoking the admiration of the onlookers.

The British flagship Powerful and the cruisers Challenger and Payche, and the Australian warships Cerberus and Protector anchored in close proximity to the Americans. Melbourne simply emptied itself of inhabitants who went to the nearby marine suburbs to witness the spectacle and as a consequence the street railways and trains were crowded. One hundred volunteer naval cadets have marched from Ballarat to Melbourne, a distance of 100 miles, in four days, to participate in the welcome of the fleet.

YOUNG MAN FINDS DEATH

Carl Shurtliff, Aged 24 Years, Expires From Overdose of Morphine.

Unconscious from the effects of a hypodermic injection of morphine, Carl Shurtliff, 24 years old, was found in the rear of a Twenty-fifth street saloon at 11 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Less than four hours later he passed away without regaining consciousness at the Ogden General hospital.

Shurtliff was the son of highly respected parents, his father being A. D. Shurtliff, a retired ranchman of this city. Some years ago the young man suffered an attack of brain fever and since that time his mind has not resumed its normal condition. This, together with evil associations, has, from time to time, involved him in various kinds of trouble.

It is supposed that young Shurtliff underestimated the amount of the drug he injected into his left arm. At the same time, there is a suspicion of suicide. The true facts in the case, however, will never be known, as no one saw the act and Shurtliff did not confide in any one.

The body was taken from the hospital to Larkin's morgue and will be shipped to Morgan Monday morning for burial. Services will likely be held here Monday afternoon.

LABOR ASKS A FAIR DEAL

Wants Job of Building High School to Go to Friendly Contractor.

A committee from the Trades and Labor assembly, headed by G. M. Watkins, waited on the board of education last evening and requested that the contract for building the new high school be awarded to some one favorable to union labor. It was pointed out that the union men supported the voting of the bonds and it was held out that the building should be erected by Ogden workmen. The members of the committee stated that contractors unfair to union labor would secure outside help to do the work. The request was referred to the building committee without comment.

President Gwilliam announced that owing to the resignation of Dr. Joyce from the board he found it necessary to rearrange the permanent committees. His appointments were:

Finance—M. S. Browning, W. H. Williams.

Teachers—T. H. Carr, H. W. Gwilliam, Building—H. W. Gwilliam, A. J. Parr.

Supplies—A. J. Parr, M. S. Browning. Laws—W. H. Williams, T. H. Carr.

Janitors for all the school buildings were reappointed and these four teachers were elected: Lulu Mitchell, Margaret Shipley, Anna Powell, Lucille Farr.

The question of purchasing an adding machine for the commercial department of the high school was referred to the supply committee, with power to act.

BURIAL OF GEO. H. CORSE.

Members of Secret Orders and Other Citizens of Prominence Attend.

Attended by large delegations of members of the Masons, the Eastern Star and the Elks and many prominent railroad men, the funeral services over the remains of the late George H. Corse were held yesterday afternoon. Prior to the removal of the body from the Richey funeral chapel, the Elks' ritualistic service was conducted. Immediately following this service the members of that organization followed the remains to the Masonic temple, where the main services were held.

The pall bearers who carried the body to its last resting place in the Mountain View cemetery were: Fred J. Kiesel, Dr. Frank Parker, A. B. Corey, A. W. Meek, A. R. Heywood, E. G. Blackman, G. J. Cunningham and V. W. Abbott. The procession was a lengthy one. First was the escort of the Knights Templars, followed by the Elks and the Blue Lodge Masons. The main body of the funeral cortege followed in carriages and the general public.

At the cemetery the Masonic ritualistic service was gone through as the body was being lowered into the grave.

KURTZ MAKES STATEMENT.

Says He Has Been Prevented From Presenting His Side of Case.

J. H. Kurtz, whose name was associated with a statement published in these columns yesterday concerning litigation in connection with the Ogden Canyon Sanitarium company, stated yesterday that since the original case was filed he has been ready to enter court with his witnesses, his books and his statement as to what was done with the $25,000 mentioned as well as to what was done with considerable money he paid out of his own pocket. He insists that the parties brought the original action have so far prevented him from presenting his side of the case, and therefore he asks that the public withhold its judgment until he has had a chance to give his side of the controversy in court.

SINKING BOAT DROWNS FIFTY

Almost Entire Crew of British Steamship Drowned Off Coast of Japan.

Tokio, Aug. 28.—News of the sinking of the British steamship Dunearn and the loss of all but two of the fifty-three members of her crew in the typhoon which raged on August 26 off the port of Goto, on the island of Ikiushu, has reached here in a report received from Moji, a town on the same island. The names of the survivors are given as William Phillips, an engineer, and John Ladon, a seaman, both of whom were picked up by the Japanese steamship Sakyo Maru.

The Dunearn was bound from Nikolaisk, Asiatic Russia, to Singapore, and put in at the port of Karatsu for coal. Again putting to sea on August 21 the ship ran into the very center of a typhoon which sent her to the bottom.

The two survivors are prostrated from exposure and hardship and a subscription has been taken up for them among the crew of the Sakyo Maru.

The Dunearn was a steel screw steamer of 2,020 tons, commanded by Captain J. Graham. She sailed from Hamburg for Nikolaisk on May 27 and arrived at the latter port on August 1.

The owners of the Dunearn have received confirmation of her loss in a typhoon while proceeding from Karatsu to Singapore. The crew consisted of thirteen Europeans and forty-one Japanese.
